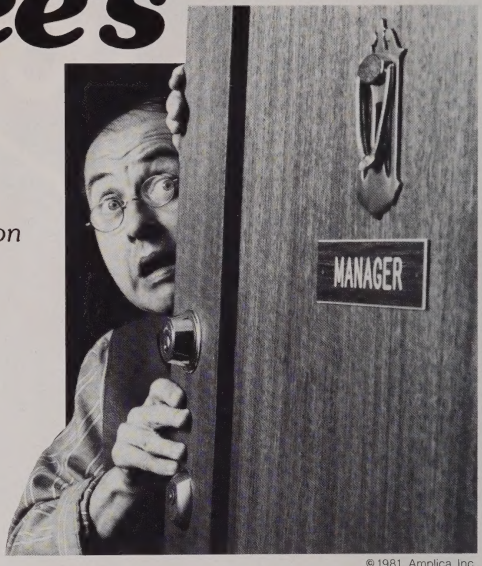
Smile. The Reception Committee's here.



© 1981, Amplica, Inc.

The committee includes everyone whose TV reception depends on a community antenna, master antenna or home association system. Don't worry. Their calls will be cordial if you choose one of Amplica's Amplividers™ as a key element. The Amplivider lets you add up to eight 4 GHz receivers for each polarity without signal interference or signal loss. It also saves you trouble and money: a rack-mounted Amplivider eliminates the jungle of connector cables and wires, does away with bias tees and LNA power supplies.

Amplica's standard Dual-Eight and new Hi-I (High Isolation) Amplivider operate at 3.7–4.2 GHz, with LNA power supplies of +20V @ 750mA max., integral power inserters and external bias connections. There's zero loss from antenna port to receiver ports.

Our Dual-Eights typically provide 20dB of isolation between receivers. Our Hi-I Amplividers stop in-band interference of single conversion receivers, reducing local oscillator leakage between receivers by more than 60dB. Here's the full line:

Model	Product	Port Configuration	Receiver to Receiver Isolation (Typical)
A10023	Dual-Eight Amplivider (available in single eight and Hi-I versions)	2 in, 16 out	20dB
A10039	Hi-2-I Amplivider	1 in, 2 out	60dB
A10040	Hi-4-I Amplivider	1 in, 4 out	60dB
A10041	Hi-8-I Amplivider	1 in, 8 out	60dB

Specify Amplivider. Everyone's reception will be much better—including the reception you get from The Reception Committee.

The Trade Show Circuit

Having just returned from two enlightening but tiring weeks on the trade-show circuit covering the SPTS Show in Omaha, the SUC Conference in Denver, the Southern/Eastern CATV Show in Atlanta and the C-TAM Marketing Conference in Boston, I wonder if any of these organizations have ever considered not making the circuit a marathon for attendees, exhibitors and the trade press.

In all parts of the United States, including the mountains of Idaho, the last two weeks in August have to be the best part of the summer season. All of these conferences/trade shows are held inside in August and for me it is the time for "run and play," not for being sequestered inside and losing your great summer tan. These conferences/trade shows should be scheduled for September and October and not back-to-back.

Let us review the highlights of each of these conferences/trade shows in an attempt to bring you, our readership, up to date on trends and directions that we see for the satellite/CATV industry.

If Its Thursday It Must Be Omaha

SPTS—Omaha. A number of new receiver manufacturers exhibited commercial quality units and we are seeing well-known commercial/military companies such as R.L. Drake Company enter the TVRO receiver field.

Two significant products appeared at this show which warrant your attention. First, Luly & Associates exhibited an improved version of its umbrella-style 10-foot and 12-foot antennas. This unit makes site surveys a snap due to its collapsible nature. Second, both ATC and Luly & Associates exhibited unique types of rotatable feed assemblies for use in polarization alignment when switching from satellite to satellite. With the advent of more and more CATV systems, TV stations and other O/V users needing to access various satellites, these units peak the polarization and hence optimize the C/N and S/N for each satellite accessed.

If Its Tuesday It Must Be Denver

SCUC—Denver. This year's Satellite Users Conference nearly doubled in both attendance and exhibitors due largely to the efforts of Irl Marshall. The two areas of greatest relevance were videoconferencing and DBS satellites. It is interesting to note that National Microtech's distributors and dealers are providing receive video conferencing capability at nearly 250 locations nationwide.

If Its Thursday It Must Be Atlanta

Southern/Eastern Show—Atlanta. This show became a full-exhibit show rather than the table-top show it was in previous years and was superbly organized. Unfortunately attendance was less than expected and many exhibitors are starting to look at cost/benefit ratios. To quote one exhibitor, "Shows are becoming too numerous and we intend to trim our participation, especially in times of high interest and tight money."

If Its Sunday It Must Be Boston

C-TAM—Boston. Ernie Olsen, C-TAM President, and Gail Sermersheim, Chairman of C-TAM '81, outdid themselves and presented the best-organized conference to date. Tiering continues to be a hot topic and rightly so, since combining various services is the key to continued subscriber acceptance of an ever-broadening programming base. Attention was also focused on the cable/newspaper relationship and other non-traditional revenue opportunities in cable's future.

The solution? Difficult at best. Our computer, "Oscar," was programmed to analyze the situation but, unfortunately, continues to ask for more information and can only render "does not compute."

We at SAT-Guide feel that perhaps everything could be lumped into one trade show/conference in Sun Valley, where you can walk/jog everywhere, enjoy exceptional cuisine, dress casually, and catch half a dozen trout on your lunch hour.

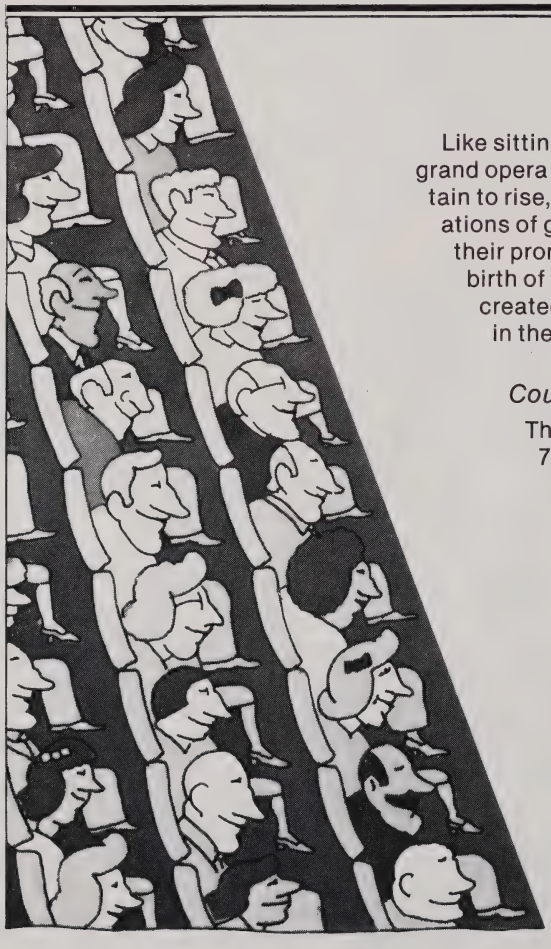
The Curtain Rises . . .



Like sitting in one of the world's grand opera houses waiting for the curtain to rise, CBS Cable has built expectations of great things to come. Through their promotional efforts heralding the birth of this cultural service, they have created the illusion of elegance and grandeur in the most impeccable taste.

Countdown

The day is Monday, October 12. The time is 7:30 p.m. At that moment throughout the United States cable systems with a total of more than 3 million subscribers will transmit a voice saying simply, "This is CBS. . .Cable." In the hours that follow, CBS Cable will debut its first day's offering of basic cable programming designed to entertain a specific segment of potential audiences which CBS Cable defines as "the light television viewer." An audience whose appetite for music, drama, dance, or programs that appeal to a particular kind of intellect, is not regularly being satisfied by the programming offered by television stations across the country.

DISCREET MODIFICATION KITS

IMPROVING THE RELIABILITY OF A 12 CHANNEL SYSTEM

By Broadband Engineering, Jupiter, Florida

EDITOR'S NOTE:

Why should we consider improving the performance of existing 12 channel trunk/feeder electronics as opposed to changing them out to 20-50+ channel capacity electronics? Very simply, there are a number of small systems that exist or could be built outside major urban areas that neither need nor can afford 20+ channel capacity.

When people have only one or two off-air channels, 12 channels via cable (ABC, NBC, CBS, PBS, local weather channel and seven satellite-delivered channels) look very attractive and subscribers are willing to pay for these services.

Having owned a number of small cable systems using single-ended equipment, with generally a low house count per strand mile and cascades in the 20 to 30 trunk amplifier range, we found in order to maintain acceptable picture quality it was necessary to re-balance our long cascade trunk electronics about four times a year because of the narrow Noise/X-Mod window that prevails with older equipment and long cascades.

Broadband Engineering deserves an "A+" for developing these discreet modification kits. Some of the benefits are as follows:

1. Better pictures for your existing customers.
2. Reduce trunk balancing to twice a year because of larger Noise/X-Mod window.
3. Extend your trunk line to serve additional customers.
4. Allows small system to be built using recycled gear and, when it gets economically healthy, you can trade-up to new equipment or modify to P-P hybrid electronics.

Most owners of 12 channel systems in 1981 are either thinking about rebuilding their systems to 300 MHz or 400 MHz or have been approached by large MSO's and are thinking of selling out. This article is not for those individuals; it is intended for the owner of a small 12 channel system who wants to improve his system performance or for the owner of a system who is planning on adding one or two pay channels within a 12 channel spectrum.

Adding pay channels dictates having good clear pictures and a reliable system. Reliability can be improved many ways in an older system. This article will direct itself to the problems associated with the electronics of the system, the amplifiers.

BORROWING MAGIC

By Tim David, Daniels & Associates, Inc.

An Investment Banker's Inside Look at Three Ways to Borrow More Money After the Bank Has Said, "You've Had Enough"

Taking No for an Answer

You've got great plans. You want to expand your plant into a new franchise area. Perhaps you'd like to buy another system. Your management is eager, the organization is ready to move. Everything is in place; but then the bank calls. "We're very sorry. We can't loan you any more money right now. Based on your cash flow, you're leveraged to the hilt. Come and see us again in a year or two."

If you've heard that story before, this article may be of some help to you. As an Investment Banker, I am usually successful in showing my CATV clients that they don't have to take NO for an answer.

Why the Bank Says Yes

As you probably know, a bank (insurance company or other lenders) determines how much money it will loan you by looking at your cash flow; typically a bank will loan five times cash flow. Problems arise, however, when cable operators inadvertently understate their "true" cash flow.

Thus enters the "borrowing magic" that is the subject of this article. I have selected three case histories of MSOs we have worked with to illustrate different means of examining cash flow and explaining that cash flow to the bank.

USA NETWORK

Original programming is as sought after in cable television as it is in commercial television. Perhaps even more so, considering that audiences are turning to cable as an alternative to the commercial network fare.

The new Alive & Well series is an ambitious attempt to fill that void. The program, which primarily focuses on women's health and fitness issues, will debut on USA Network October 1.

Bristol-Myers Commitment

Marvin Koslow, Vice-President of marketing services for The Bristol-Myers Co., announced his company's commitment to spend 40 million dollars over the next decade to provide two hours, five days a week of Alive & Well programming. Koslow remarked, "This is the first time a major advertiser has provided continuous programming for a national cable network."

Bristol-Myers has been involved with advertiser-supported television programming for some time. It is no wonder that they took the lead in advertiser sponsorship of national cable television.

However, the company has relinquished complete creative control of the series to Dave Bell, chairman of DBA Communications, Inc. and Executive in Charge of Production for the series.

The Creative Force

Dave Bell and his company have been the recipients of multiple Emmys and countless other awards. Dramatic and informative productions such as Angel Death with Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward, Whatever Happened to Lori

Alive & Well

Nutritional gourmet Pavradi demonstrating how to make healthy desserts.

Jean Lloyd with Marsha Mason, and Combat in the Classroom with Ed Asner, securely placed DBA in the front ranks of independent documentary makers. All parties involved have pointed out that the organization's national reputation for unique, hard-hitting productions, will ensure that Alive & Well will share those qualities.

Alive & Well marks DBA Television's maiden venture into cable, although it is simultaneously working on two documentary specials for Home Box Office.

Dave Bell clearly expects this series to be the first of many projects for cable. He commented, "I don't expect broadcast to disappear, but everyone, including me, expects its character to change. Cable will force that change . . . Anybody who has a production company and thinks he's going to make all his money from broadcast in the next decade better be mighty secure. I don't think I will."

Programming

The program's host is Keith Berwick, well known for his work in Los Angeles on the interview series, At One With, for which he has garnered three Emmys. Berwick is an accomplished marathon runner with 23 full marathons to his credit. He sees Alive & Well as a unique opportunity to explore his demonstrated passion for health and fitness.

"I'm interested in what we now call wellness," Berwick says. "I grew up, as most of us did, in an age where sickness was the model of how we viewed health. Today, celebrating one's good health and improving on what's already there is much more appropriate. I'm interested in how people can do it for themselves and that's what I want to communicate through our show."

Alive & Well will utilize a group of women co-hosts, which is comprised of accomplished athletes, beauty and nutrition experts, exercise teachers, actresses and journalists. They will explore, along with Keith Berwick and various guests, the fascinating field of today's health.

Dan Gingold, Supervising Producer of the series, stresses the comprehensive and diverse nature of the program. He remarked, "We intend to encourage our audience to take responsibility for maintaining its own health. We will explore exercise, nutrition, creative leisure, beauty and sports, among other topics. We also hope to take glimpses into the future with scientists and doctors and to make the area of health care and medicine more accessible to the layperson. The emphasis will be on the positive aspects of health."

Keith Berwick echoes these sentiments, "We'll show how people can look better and feel better in every aspect of their lives and we'll do it with gusto and a sense of fun."

Alive & Well will be shot entirely on location in Southern California. Jim Thompson, Executive Producer, cites the use of a versatile mobile unit that will enable the crew to tape at almost any location.

USA Network, which projects an audience of 10 million viewers by the end of 1981, sees Alive & Well as its response to the American viewers' desire for self-improvement information.

Kay Koplovitz, President of USA Network, reflected on the new project: "When we signed this $40 million contract with Bristol-Myers, it was widely heralded in the trade press as being a major breakthrough for cable because it represented a long-term commitment to original programming. Now that the series is ready to debut, we are anticipating a similar wave of positive response from our viewers. Alive & Well is a major component of our women's programming block and will serve as a model for how cable television can provide in the way of original programming."

It appears that everyone concerned has high hopes for the Alive & Well series. USA Network, Bristol-Myers, and DBA Television all intend to profit from this venture into original cable programming; however, they are all committed to the notion that the audience will reap the benefits of a series that is designed to improve the quality of their lives.

Robert M., "Bob," Rogers

TCA Cable Group
Tyler, Texas

Robert M. (Bob) Rogers is Chief Executive Officer and majority owner of the TCA Cable Group, headquartered in Tyler, Texas.

A CATV pioneer, Rogers bought his first system in 1954 in Sulphur Springs, Texas, with 83 paying customers. Today TCA's eight companies operate 40 systems in Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas and Idaho. The group's classic, rural systems are maintained in nine operations districts by 270 employees. TCA presently serves almost 160,000 subscribers. It is ranked among the seven largest privately-held U.S. cable companies.

Rogers was born August 31, 1926 in Buckner, Missouri. He went into business at age 19, pursing interests in electronics, movie theater ownership and real estate development, before entering the CATV business. In recent years he has become majority owner of a national bank near Tyler and two Tyler radio stations.

Rogers and his wife Lou are parents of Rick and Sheryl, now pursing their own careers and Randy, Becky and Rusty, all in college. Rogers enjoys "playing company pilot" in his A-36 Bonanza, mountain hiking, skiing and reading everything.

Since he acquired Sun Valley Cable TV in 1977, the Rogers' have enjoyed an Idaho "second home" with a spectacular view of Mt. Baldy.

A number of hard decisions are facing the cable operator today. In the first of a planned series, SAT-Guide interviews the 22nd largest MSO in the nation to share his insight and reasoning behind how he chooses programming services for his systems, and also how he deals with the constant need for upgrading his CATV hardware as new technologies develop.

VIEWPOINT:
Mr. Cable Operator

S/G: HOW ARE PROGRAMMING DECISIONS MADE? YOU HAVE HOME OFFICE INVOLVEMENT, DISTRICT MANAGER INVOLVEMENT . . . HOW ARE LOCAL MANAGERS/STAFF INVOLVED? WHO HAVE THE FINAL SAY, AND WHAT IS THE TOTAL PROCESS?

RMR: The process involves talking with the local manager and the people there about that area and what we think would be most desirable there, and then I make the final decision. I have always had the final word because programming sometimes involves broadcast stations, which may involve copyrights and FCC rules, and other services may require contracts. If I have to sign a three year contract, I want to be sure this will be a viable service for three years. Also, I want to question whether or not I can get by with a one year contract. Am I stuck on a price for a certain period of time, and so on. That's why I make the final decision.

S/G: ARE YOU CONSIDERING MORE OF THE SUPERSTATIONS NOW THAT THE DISTANT SIGNAL REGULATION HAS BEEN ABOLISHED? IF YOU HAD A SYSTEM THAT WAS CONSIDERING THE ADDITION OF ANOTHER CHANNEL, WOULD YOU CONSIDER WGN, WOR OR WTBS WHERE THESE WERE OUT OF CONSIDERATION BEFORE?

RMR: If it is a system where we already have two independents, I lean towards saying no on that now, because we have found that putting on the first independent is super, and adding a second one is pretty good, but putting on the third doesn't really mean much if there are other good choices. Also, now there are other considerations. What's going to happen with copyright? And distant independents are where you really get zapped with fees. I know we just took one off in a medium-sized system, and when we filled out the copyright forms we found out it was saving us about $2,600 in six months. Cost is a consideration. But, disregarding that, I am leaning towards going to the pure CATV services now and getting away from duplicated broadcast channels as long as we have the basic choices. There are several satellite services that I think should be a part of the basic program package—they're really good. And there are some that are not so good. But as long as we have some of the good ones left to add, such as Cable News Network, ESPN, USA or CBN, we would really rather offer those if we already have two independents.

S/G: WE KEYED MOST OF OUR QUESTIONS TO PROGRAMMING BECAUSE WE FEEL THAT A LOT OF YOUR MAJOR DECISIONS ARE MADE IN THE HOME OFFICE. PROGRAMMING IS AN IMPORTANT AREA RIGHT NOW.

RMR: Let me just run through a few ideas about the way the CATV industry looks to me. I got into business in 1954—some 27 years ago—and I see the evolution of CATV as an industry in three basic phases. The first was the experimental and technical phase in the 1950's. For about two years the principal discussion among cable owners was whether it was technically practical to run five channels on the same cable. Most of them had

UNIQUE LOCAL ORIGINATION

PART II

By Paul Bosted

Preparing The Local Program: Live vs Tape

At Channel 13 in Sun Valley, we decided at the outset that all local program origination would be telecast using videotape. Initially, we experimented with 1/2" VHS, but found this was ineffective, largely due to the lack of professional editing equipment designed for use with this format.

Our decision not to use any live origination was based upon several considerations. First among our reservations was the need to provide a costly studio setting complete with lights and camera switching; almost as important was the fact that there was no experienced personnel immediately available who could ensure that live material could be produced without "glitches" and a general air of amateurism. We therefore decided that all material to be telecast would be field produced using ENG equipment, edited, titled and placed on tape.

Our typical local program segment consists of news and features, augmented by weather and sporting condition reports (fishing, skiing, etc.). The news material is gathered on a seven-day basis, which puts some stress on the limited staff, since they must be willing to do weekend coverages, as well as nighttime city council meetings and the like. The news is first telecast at 5:30 p.m. local time, repeated at the end of our network segment, and further repeated at least three times the following morning. Our news deadline is 3:00 p.m. to allow sufficient time for editing for the 5:30 p.m. show. The news is supplemented by a series of features, all of which are "in the can" well before the time that they will be needed. Therefore, assembly and editing of the show proceeds with the materials taped during the morning and early afternoon as well as the preceding evening. We try to fit this into a format of approximately five minutes total. Commercials are inserted according to contract provisions, and the balance of the show is made up of features which have been preproduced. We occasionally use some material sent to us by the Farm Bureau Federation if it has relevance to our community and its interests.

When appropriate, we also produce short specials of particular community events of broad general interest. This summer, we produced a seven-minute special on a local small-town Fourth of July from the pancake breakfast to the nighttime fireworks display. Other specials included coverage of a fifty-mile triathalon, the Centennial celebration of a local town, and the three-day Wagon Days old west event in another town. All of these specials were fully sponsored by local merchants. The specials are usually repeated at least five times during different parts of the day in order that anyone who wants to see the material has an opportunity to do so. We frequently get requests to do further repeats of some materials. During the winter we also do special coverage of local children's ski races, and in early summer the Junior Golf Tournaments are fully sponsored on co-op by Goodyear through a local tire dealer.

All field material is recorded on JVC 4400U ¾" equipment, using the JVC KY2000 camera. On occasion we also use a Panasonic 3200 camera with a Magnavox 8720 ½" VHS portable. Generally, this setup is used for supplemental coverage where its small size, low power drain and easy portability make it possible to access places where the larger equipment is inappropriate. Examples are some close-up shots in the river during a recent white water rodeo, and coverage at the moutaintop of a three-pin binding ski race.

All VHS material is dubbed onto ¾" cassettes for editing. This results in generation degradation, but it is generally of acceptable quality provided lighting conditions were good when the material was first taped.

We have sold footage produced with the ¾" recorder and three tube camera to several other stations in Idaho and adjoining states, and have also sold stock materials to independent producers who need off-season scenes as supplements to productions being put together in Sun Valley. As there is a fair amount of activity for filming and taping in the resort, we believe that this may eventually become a source of material revenues.

Satellite Feed Materials: The Virtext Decoder

At the outset, we felt the need for program materials to supplement those which we could reasonably produce locally; accordingly we acquired a Zenith Virtext Decoder from Southern Satellite Systems and contracted to use the Reuters News Service. From the beginning, the system worked badly or not at all. The decoder persistently inserts spurious signals into the material so that random ASCII symbols, numbers or letters will appear in the clear text, garbling it unacceptably. After trying different decoders we concluded that this system is not yet sufficiently reliable for our use, and we discontinued it in March after a three-month trial. It had been our intention to use this display during the intervals when the program tape is being rewound; instead we now use our character generator to produce special weather data, station promos for upcoming programs, listings of community calendar materials and the like. This has proven to be quite satisfactory.

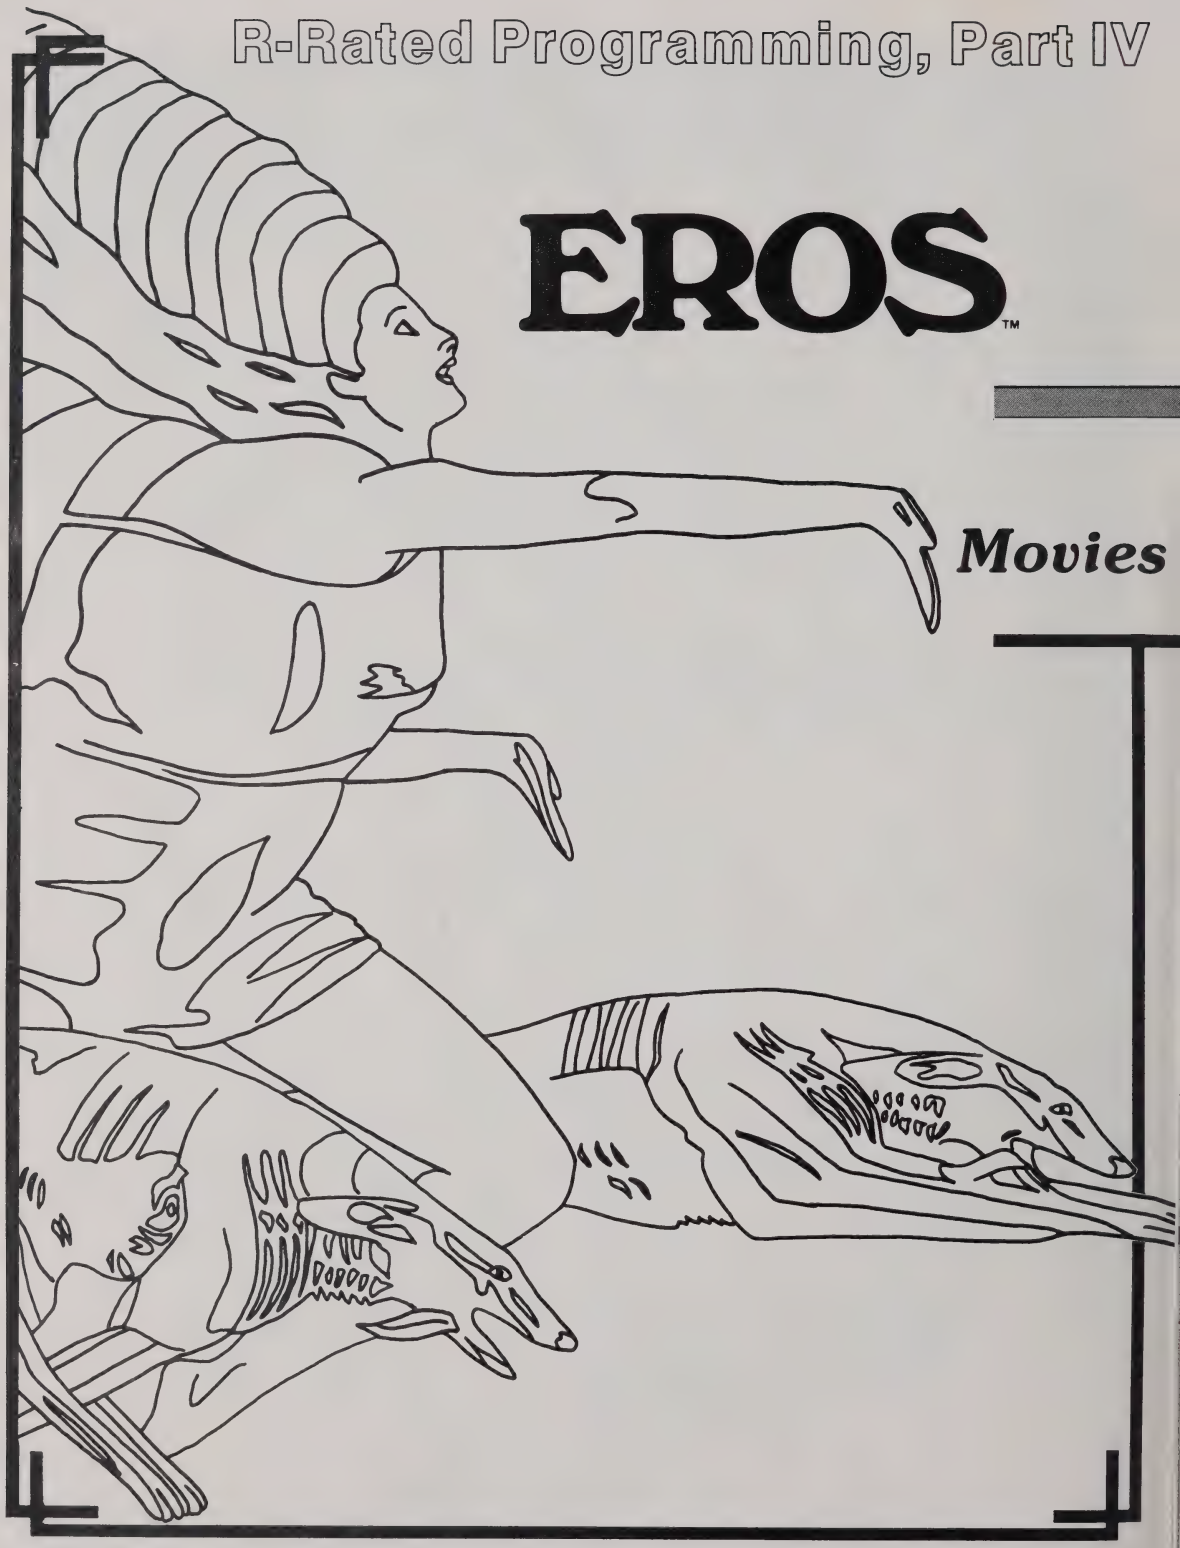
EROS™



Movies

you won't see anywhere else

"There is simply no entertainment quite like a movie, whether it's Gene Kelly and Debbie Reynolds strutting their stuff in Singin' In The Rain or Chai Lee, resplendent as the star of Yellow Emanuelle." These sentiments, expressed by Brian O'Daly, president of New York-based Broadcast Programming, Inc. (BPI) and driving force behind the EROS pay TV service, reflect the philosophical basis for a unique tier.

Scenes from the movies To Be Twenty and Yellow Emanuelle.

"Being rooted in the broadcast syndication business," Mr. O'Daly added, "we recognized the endurance of the feature film time after time. Furthermore, there was, and is, a trend towards the racier titles commanding a better dollar because of the larger audience they consistently draw."

Some formal cable market research confirmed this perception. Most apparent was the strength of any feature film in terms of viewers' demand. Indeed, Time Life, Warner Amex and Viacom have become dominant in the cable programming field by serving features as the staple of their services.

Wilson Microwave Systems

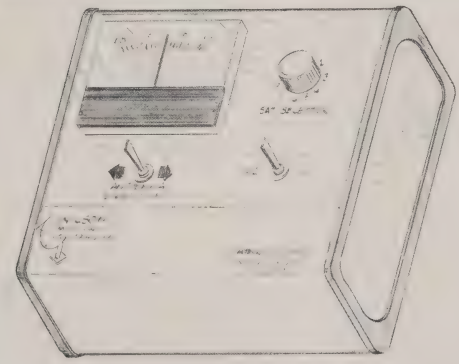
Wilson Microwave Systems uses the latest state of the art method of manufacturing the parabolic designed antenna. Resistance to distortion and instability is increased with the addition of a full screen mesh sealed within the ¼" thick fiberglass.

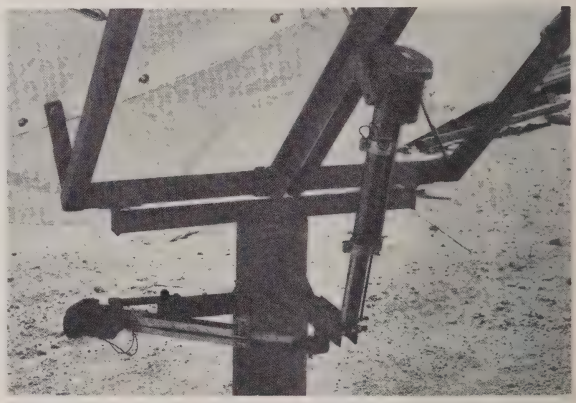
Wilsons unique "Vari-Mount" provides the easiest installation and mounting method available today. The 4pc construction of the dish provides easier handling, less installation time, and greatly reduced shipping costs.

With the exclusive 4 point Williams' mount, you are assured a quicker installation and that the antenna will be more securely fastened to the Vari-Mount. The antenna struts aid in stabilizing the fiberglass for operational reception in winds of up to 50 - 60 MPH.

A ball bearing race allows easy turning of the antenna in changing to the different satellites. A scale is included on the base to assist in their location.

For those areas that require a larger dish than the 3.35 meter, Wilson offers an addition that will increase the size to 4.0 meter. It is easily bolted to the outer edge and maintains the strength, while increasing the performance.





The optional remote control feature allows you to control movement of the azimuth and elevation positions of the antenna from the comfort of your easy chair — without having to go outside. This feature may be added later.

Wilson can now supply you with a complete system for turnkey operation that includes everything that is required for installation. The package includes the fiberglass 11' antenna featured above, receiver, 120° LNA, modulator, and all cables required. Many options are available.

Some people only give financial support to the large, well-known charities. That's fine, but there are also a lot of small agencies providing vital aid to a lot of people. And United Way helps them do it. Because it helps not just the well-known causes, but those people you wouldn't turn your back on if you knew how much they really needed you.

Thanks to you, it works. For all of us.

The most willing work force in America is available in June.

This summer, hire someone who will strive, scramble, toil and tackle.

This summer, hire a teenager.

Teenagers want to work. Teenagers are hungry to work.

For some young people, a summer job holds the key to being able to continue their education in the fall.

All you have to give is a job to a needy teenager who hasn't been given the chance.

You'll save on your taxes. And make the most of the most willing work force in America.

Make the most of your youth.

Hire a teenager

Help our colleges cope with inflation. The money you give may decide whether I'm to be or not to be.

—William Shakespeare
Poet, Actor, Playwright

Hamlet and Caesar and Macbeth have died a thousand deaths upon a thousand stages since my pen first gave them life.

But nothing could kill them. Until now.

Now, what cold steel and human treachery could not accomplish may be wrought by neglect. On college campuses all over America.

As inflation forces colleges to spend millions of extra dollars on lighting, heating and maintenance, there will be less and less money for engineering and science . . . and literature.

It's frightening to think about the sacrifices that may have to be made on college campuses in order to save money.

Valuable professors may have to be let go.

Courses, and perhaps even whole departments, may be dropped.

Research spending may be pared down to almost nothing.

Hard-to-heat buildings (theatres, for example) may have to be shut down.

If excellence in higher education is to survive, it needs your help. Tuition alone doesn't begin to cover the cost of a college education. So please give generously.

By helping to save my work from neglect you may prevent the greatest Shakespearean tragedy of all.

Help!
Give to the college of your choice.

It's also a bear-dozer, bird-dozer and deer-dozer.

When bulldozers attack a forest, they uproot much more than trees. They ravage an entire environment sustaining a complete wildlife community. Bears, birds, deer and other animals are driven from their natural habitats. Reckless development turns forestlands, wetlands and prairielands into wildlife wastelands which no longer provide the food, water and cover all animals need.

True, we must meet our country's growing demands for timber, minerals and energy. But it need not be at the expense of another valuable resource—our wildlife. Solution: a rational balance of development and conservation. We can ensure our economic future while at the same time protecting our wildlife heritage.

To help preserve the balance, the National Wildlife Federation is acquiring land all over the country, large tracts dedicated to the permanent protection of wildlife habitat. In California, Illinois, Wisconsin and South Dakota, the Federation has set aside more than 2,000 acres just to keep eagle-dozers away from the endangered bald eagle. Other species must have their habitats, too, and we are working to secure them.

Help us save a place for wildlife. Write Department 501, National Wildlife Federation, 1412 16th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

We can't afford to run out of ideas.

How many ideas do you suppose it took to develop human communications from smoke signals that covered a few miles to satellites and laser beams that reach from here to the moon? Most of those ideas came from college-trained minds and college-based laboratories. Now these vital sources of ideas are threatened—by shortages of money that are forcing colleges to curtail programs, reduce faculty, limit laboratory work, cut down on book purchases for libraries. We must not let this deterioration continue. We can't afford to run out of ideas. Or we may all be back to smoke signals again before we realize it.

Make America smarter. Give to the college of your choice.

three, and they argued whether or not they could go to five. At that time we were making some of our equipment, experimenting with antennas, just getting something to work. Of course, most of the people in cable today don't know about all that.

S/G: YOU MEAN THEY DIDN'T HAVE 400 PLUS BACK THEN?

RMR: No. We were just trying to get channel 6 through the system. Then what I see as the second phase came along. This was the time of financing, and the beginning of consolidation of MSOs and of franchising so-called classic CATV areas. This was in the 1960's and the early 1970's. During this time the towns close to large markets still had nothing to sell. So we ignored them because, as the saying goes, "you can't sell for money what you can get for free." Also, debt financing of a system was non-existent in the 50's and rare in the 60's. Finally, we see the third phase, what I call the maturity phase, that we're in now. The earlier problems have been recognized and solved. Good hardware is available, technical and operating methods have been well developed, and financing is now "state of the art." Of course, cable operators have always spent all their profits for new equipment and plant expansion, and still do. Now the important things are programming and marketing and advanced consolidation of ownership. The maturity phase really got rolling with the coming of satellite delivery, which brought us a product that was different and available only on cable. It was something we'd never had before. Just in the last three or four years, the inception of these services has necessitated their marketing. Having a choice of programming now requires making proper choices for any given system, whereas programming in the past was picking up what you could to fill up channels. With choices like we have now, it's an entirely different game.

The second phase was a period of the early franchise wars. There were bidding matches in the early 70's where some contenders would promise anything to get the franchise with the intention of starting construction, and then have to go back to the city to try to get the franchise requirements eased. That's not true any more. This time around the cities are more sophisticated, and are saying that you must deliver on your promises. They say, "You brought her, you dance with her."

S/G: YOU'RE TALKING ABOUT SITUATIONS LIKE THE FRANCHISE BIDDING WAR THAT'S GOING ON IN DENVER AT THE MOMENT?

RMR: Yes. I think the cities have gotten cable operators' attention. They've made them understand that, by golly, if they are going to promise something they have to do it. They cannot promise 100 channels and come back later and say "We have 20 now, and we'll talk about the rest later." I think a lot of the MSOs and a lot of the big contenders have to learn that things are going to be pretty expensive, and that they're going to have to live up to their promises. Maybe some of the franchise winners won't be able to afford what they promised. Also, during recent times, some large investors have been willing to pay premium prices to get into system ownership and operation because they know that the last major consolidation of the industry is taking place now. Since they are late, they will have to pay more to get in.

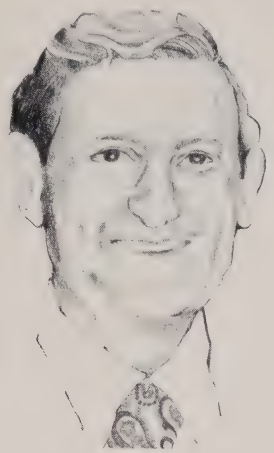
As an example of how things have changed, when the Texas CATV Association was organized in the late 1950's, all the owners could sit around one table. Twelve years later, there were 150 or more independent cable owners in Texas. Now you can have a meeting of owners and all sit around one table again.

S/G: WHAT ABOUT PHASE FOUR?

RMR: I don't know if you can call it phase four, but this is what I see in the future. I think CATV will be mostly entertainment in the foreseeable future. The reason we are successful is that we have the best entertainment bargain in town and we shouldn't forget that. I believe that the company that is permanently successful makes its living out of what it saves the public. We need to be sure to continue to offer the public a bargain, an ever-widening range of entertainment and information for a modest price. If we forget that, we will be on shaky ground. I think the ancillary services so well publicized today may someday amount to one-fourth of our revenues, but I think entertainment and information for the foreseeable future will be the base.

S/G: ARE SURVEYS MADE WITHIN A SYSTEM TO GAUGE THE PUBLIC'S RESPONSE TO A POSSIBLE NEW SERVICE?

RMR: We have tried that. The problem is that if it's a brand new service people have never seen, you can't get an accurate response. You have to show it to them and then three months later they'll say, "Oh yes, that's fine." If people have never seen anything but network and independent stations, they say they would like another independent station.



"... if I have to sign a three-year contract, I want to be sure this will be a viable service for three years."

S/G: A LOT OF THE MAJOR PAY SERVICES AND OTHERS ARE HEAVILY INVOLVED WITH CONSUMER-ORIENTED PROGRAMS. IN PART, THE PREVIOUS QUESTION WAS ASKING IF YOU TAKE SURVEYS WHEN PEOPLE INDICATE A PREFERENCE OF, SAY, SHOWTIME OVER HBO. IS A SURVEY DONE TO SAY "MAYBE WE SHOULD THINK ABOUT THIS SERVICE AND GO OUT AND TALK TO PEOPLE AND CONSIDER PUTTING IT ON"?

RMR: We sometimes take an informal survey. But when it gets down to the final decision, our choice is to offer balanced programming. Our philosophy is really just the opposite of the local network TV station. TV stations say, "we are going to be all things to all people. Watch our channel." We are saying we have a dozen or two dozen channels and we have something for everyone. We want to offer as much variety as possible. Therefore, when I make a program decision I say, "What worthwhile service that we do not have now can we offer?"

S/G: WHAT YOU'RE SAYING IS THAT YOUR DECISIONS ARE A COMBINATION OF HARD DATA AND GUT REACTION?

RMR: Yes, they are. That gets us back to the independents again. Two independents are great. But three—so-so.

S/G: AS WE SEE IT, IF YOU HAVE A LARGE MAJORITY OF PEOPLE OUT THERE THAT YOU ARE ALREADY SERVING WITH THREE OR FOUR SATELLITE CHANNELS, THEN THEY MIGHT BE THE ONES TO CALL IN ASKING FOR CNN BUT WOULD YOU JUST BE PLAYING MORE TO THOSE SAME PEOPLE RATHER THAN DIVERSIFYING YOUR PROGRAM TO REACH EVERYONE?

RMR: I consider CNN and ESPN as basic services. I feel that they should be part of a basic package.

S/G: WE UNDERSTAND YOUR POSITION ON PUTTING CNN ON BASIC. BUT DOESN'T ONE OF THE REASONS FOR DOING THIS INVOLVE COST? DOESN'T IT COST YOU MORE IF YOU TIER CNN?

RMR: That's true. Also, they don't really want you to tier the service and they make it hard for you to do so.

S/G: WE KNOW CNN COSTS 15 CENTS PER BASIC SUB, BUT WHAT DOES IT COST ON THE TIER?

RMR: They quote 30 cents per sub on a tier, but they really don't want you to run it on one.

S/G: ISN'T THAT A CONSIDERATION IN SOME PLACES—THE COST?

RMR: Yes, but it's probably not too important because you are paying on the subs the service is available to.

S/G: HAVE YOU THOUGHT WHAT MIGHT HAPPEN WHEN ABC AND WESTINGHOUSE PUT IN THEIR 24-HOUR NEWS SERVICE NEXT SUMMER?

RMR: We are loyal to Ted Turner, but that will be a hard question for some operators to answer. Certain commercial networks have tried everything in the past to strangle CATV in the cradle. Turner put up all his chips and burned bridges behind him when he went national and gave CATV something to sell when it was needed. I have a good memory.

S/G: THIS IS ONE OF THOSE BOTTOM LINE DECISIONS THAT COMES OUT. A NUMBER OF SERVICES ARE NOW OFFERING OR WILL OFFER FREE SERVICE, OR WILL ACTUALLY PAY THE CABLE COMPANY TO CARRY THE SERVICE. IS THAT A CONSIDERATION?

RMR: Yes, it is a business decision.

S/G: IN UPGRADING THE SYSTEM TO ADDITIONAL CHANNEL CAPACITY, DO YOU FAVOR MODULE CHANGEOUT OR COMPLETE REBUILD WITH NEW EQUIPMENT? OR IS EACH SYSTEM CONSIDERED INDIVIDUALLY?

RMR: That's one of the two big questions facing me this year. The other is converters. We have studied each of our locations and determined that some of them will be done with modification with modules to go to 21 channels. All the others will be done to go to 35. We are using 35 channels as our standard. In some places, the additional capacity is not necessary as there may not be that much available in the foreseeable future. We do consider the modification kit option to be temporary, but we think it will last for at least five years in some locations.

S/G: IS THIS A VERY IMPORTANT PART OF THE INDUSTRY RIGHT NOW?

RMR: Yes, very.

S/G: THE REASON WE'RE ASKING IS THAT WE HAVE AN ARTICLE RUNNING CALLED "DISCREET MODIFICATION KITS FROM BROADBAND." DO YOU USE BROADBAND ENGINEERING IN SOME OF YOUR MOD PURCHASES?

RMR: Yes, and they are working out well, too. It's just a question of whether you can get by with 21 channels, or if you need more capacity right now. That depends on the system location. For instance, how many channels are available off the air and how many are must carrys? Is the system so small that the head-end will cost more than the plant? Does a 35-channel replacement require respacing amplifiers or new cable? Can rates be adjusted to pay for the rebuild? Is there a town close by that is running 30 channels?

S/G: IS THIS THE TYPE OF SITUATION YOU ARE FACING?

RMR: Yes, in some cases.

S/G: HOW MUCH DOES BOTTOM LINE COST INFLUENCE THE SELECTION OF ONE SIMILAR SERVICE OVER ANOTHER? A COUPLE OF EXAMPLES GIVEN ARE USA NETWORK VS. ESPN AS FAR AS SPORTS, AND HBO OVER SHOWTIME OR THE MOVIE CHANNEL.

RMR: Well, when you talk about an ESPN vs. USA you are talking about pennies. When you are talking about Showtime or The Movie Channel versus HBO you are talking about dollars. This is quite different. In the basic three pay services, I haven't found much difference in the way they sell. I am somewhat prejudiced about paying a lot more for one than the other when I feel that they are comparable.

S/G: HAVE YOU TRIED THE MOVIE CHANNEL IN ANY OF YOUR SYSTEMS?

RMR: Yes. I have it in three systems and it's doing very well.

S/G: DO YOU SEE NARROWCASTING AS THE BEST DIRECTION FOR THE FUTURE OF SATELLITE SERVICES OR DO YOU FAVOR ALL-ENCOMPASSING SERVICES SUCH AS ESPN THAT APPEAL TO A MORE GENERAL AUDIENCE? I BELIEVE YOU HAVE MORE OR LESS ANSWERED THAT IN SAYING THAT NARROWCASTING IS THE WAY YOU CAN BEST SERVE EVERYBODY WHO'S OUT THERE.

RMR: That's right. If we have 20 channels available, we can probably afford to put on a channel that appeals to 3 percent of the people. Another for 5 percent and so on, and it all adds up. Now that the commercial networks don't have 95 percent of the viewership (it's down to 80 percent or so), the other 20 percent is taken up with all these other offerings. Include pay TV viewers and the networks may be averaging 50 percent viewership on CATV.

S/G: HAVE YOU ALWAYS FELT THAT THE BASIC PRINCIPLE BEHIND CABLE TV IS OFFERING CHOICE?

RMR: Yes, I have. We are selling diversity. The TV broadcaster must limit diversity, but we expand it. We are selling many things to many people. Take your choice, and if you don't like channel 12 don't watch it, watch channel 10. That plus the fact that we still have the best bargain in town. There is no possible way you can get this kind of entertainment we are offering for anything like the price, which is a few dollars a month. If you tried to do it another way, it would cost many, many times that. All we are doing for $9 a month is bringing people something they could probably do for $50,000 in the back yard, but our $9 a month is cheaper, even with another $10 added in for 17 new movies.

Speaking of money, the biggest money decision I am facing this year is converters. This decision will run into the millions, and what we have done, like most other MSOs, is this: We now use the first generation converter, the cheapie that takes three or seven channels and flips them over to standard channels. We are using traps for security, or decoders. We knew when we bought these converters they were obsolete, and we still buy them knowing they are obsolete. We look at the second generation converter, probably the programmable type, but I cannot make myself buy them because I think they will be obsolete by the time they're installed. And I can't afford to change converters every two years. So we're holding off, getting by with what we have and trying hard to determine what we're getting into for the third generation—which would be addressable.

S/G: WHAT ARE YOU CONSIDERING FOR A THIRD GENERATION CONVERTER? FOR INSTANCE, THE C-COR SCAN SYSTEM?

RMR: That's one of them. Of course, there are several, including OAK, Jerrold, S-A and others. All of these people say, "This is it. You should buy mine." I say "Fine, where can I look at these in service?" Most say they don't have any actually proven in service yet. I hate to be the very first pioneer. I would rather be the second. This is a temendous decision for an MSO. We hope to do it right the first time. Besides, our installers don't need the exercise!

S/G: HAVE YOU TIERED TWO PAY MOVIE SERVICES TOGTHER, AND IF YOU HAVE, WHAT HAS BEEN THE RESPONSE?

RMR: We haven't yet. We will later this year. Currently we are just getting up to normal saturation on one pay. Our retention rate is good because we don't use hard-sell. In a couple of systems, we have one pay channel along with one, two or three additional channels which you get thrown in free if you buy the pay channel. That idea seems to be selling pretty well.

S/G: WHAT DO YOU THROW IN?

RMR: Well, it depends on what we have on basic. In some systems, it's ESPN, SPN, CNN, USA or Nickelodeon.

S/G: YOU MENTIONED SPN. WHAT IS THE POSITION OF AN MSO SUCH AS TCA ON THE PURCHASE OF SECOND DISHES FOR CABLE SYSTEMS FOR THE DISH FARM OF THE 80's REPLACING THE ANTENNA FARM OF THE 70's? ARE YOU CONSIDERING THE SECOND DISH?

RMR: I have to be able to justify it. I have three locations where we have two dishes. Two of those are in West Texas where we have a Westar pickup solely for SIN since we have 30 percent Spanish population. It's justified. We have another in South Louisiana going in now that will take SPN off Westar III for Telefrance for our French-speaking subscribers. In a justifiable situation, I would put in a second dish.

S/G: WHAT ABOUT THE HARD-R AND X PAY SERVICES?

RMR: I don't have to make a living that way.

S/G: YOU'VE BEEN FOLLOWING THE BIRD-WATCHER SECTION OF THE MAGAZINE THAT HIGHLIGHTS WHAT IS COMING UP. TWENTY-FOUR MONTHS DOWN THE ROAD WE WILL BE LOOKING AT 117 VIDEO CHANNELS, AND IF YOU WANT CHOICE, THERE IT IS.

RMR: Yes. I just hope 25 of them are good.

S/G: YOU GET INTO THE SITUATION WHERE, IN ANY GIVEN SYSTEM—WHETHER 21 OR 35 CHANNELS—THERE IS A MAXIMUM NUMBER OF SERVICES YOU CAN PULL OFF SATCOM I OR SATCOM IIIR, FOR THAT MATTER. KNOWING YOUR PHILOSOPHY ON CABLE TV AS A MEDIUM OF DIVERSITY, DO YOU SEE ADDITIONAL DISHES GOING INTO CABLE SYSTEMS SIMPLY BECAUSE OF THE AMOUNT OF CHOICE AVAILABLE ON OTHER SATELLITES?

RMR: I do if I can justify it.

S/G: IF YOU CAN JUSTIFY POINTING A DISH AT WESTAR OR COMSTAR FOR THE SERVICES THAT ARE AVAILABLE FOR ANY GIVEN SYSTEM?

RMR: Yes. I can't go out there for a system that has lots of other programming available on Satcom I and say I am going to put in a dish for Westar III just to get SPN. If they had three services available on Westar III that we could use I probably would.

S/G: IS 1982 GOING TO BE THE YEAR FOR A SECOND DISH FOR YOUR SYSTEMS, DEPENDING ON WHAT HAPPENS WITH THE SATELLITE PROGRAMS?

RMR: I think we could say that.

S/G: WOULD YOU REMOVE A REDUNDANT CHANNEL ON BASIC TO PUT ON A NEW ONE IF YOU HAD LIMITED CHANNEL CAPACITY?

RMR: I do it every chance I get. Of course, there are some problems in that.

S/G: WHAT ARE THOSE PROBLEMS?

RMR: Let me give you an example. In Arkansas we have a system with three NBC's, all of them just alike with the only difference being the local news. The signal on one was flakey, a noisy picture, and that way for 20 years. We took it off to put on ESPN. Most people loved it. But Mrs. Jones out there called to say, "I've always watched so-and-so on the news. That was my favorite station." You'll have that problem. But we are avoiding duplications wherever possible. We're trying our best to get down to one good commercial station for each network. If we are only required to carry one of each network, then even 12 channels is quite a few choices. We do have a problem some places where there are duplicated stations nobody really watches, but somehow they are FCC must carrys, and there's nothing we can do. This gets into channel priority. As I see it, everything in the world is rationed, even air and water. There is only so much of anything. If money weren't rationed, it wouldn't be money. The theory of rationing makes you get the best use of any asset. If you have 35 channels in a system, and the system is worth $3.5 million, then each channel is worth $100,000. We must put on something worthwhile since each channel has a definite value. In my programming decisions, I will not pick a service and put it on one of my precious channels just because the service may be free. If it's not a program of value, I don't want it, and neither do our subscribers.

Consolidation

In our first case history, the MSO was organized in such a manner that each cable subsidiary was financed independently. Although they were centrally managed, the borrowing power was placed separately on each entity. Some of the operating companies were fully leveraged (borrowing five to six times cash flow); others were only borrowing one or two times cash flow, but were guaranteeing the loans of the other more leveraged companies.

The MSO wanted to borrow more funds for expansion, but didn't know how to because all the operating companies seemed tied up. As the Investment Banker for the firm, we advised the company to unravel all the guarantees, pay off most of the individual financing and consolidate all borrowings. When this was done, we then added up all the individual cash flows, multiplied by five and determined that the MSO could borrow a great deal more money.

Some of the companies were significantly underleveraged, so by adding the whole pool together, we were able to take advantage of previously unused borrowing strength.

Writing Off Borrowing Strength

Cable television operators have significant legal discretion in determining what can be written off as expense as opposed to what should be capitalized.

Capitalization is the procedure of taking plant and equipment costs and adding them as assets on the balance sheet, with a portion of those assets deducted each year in the form of depreciation. It is important to note that items capitalized do not reduce cash flow, because cash flow is defined as profit before depreciation and interest.

A private cable operator typically wants to write off expansion costs (rather than capitalize) as rapidly as possible, since this procedure reduces taxes (but also cash flow).

Most private cable operators are not concerned with showing earnings, (a public company probably would, however) so they tend to expense many capital related costs. That's fine for the short run; but when it comes to borrowing, the lowered cash flow becomes a handicap.

When advising a client having this problem, we carefully explained the firm's capitalization policy to the bank and were successful in illustrating the company's true borrowing strength.

When a Dollar is not a Dollar

Our final case history deals with an interesting negotiating edge with the bank in determining real cash flow.

As in the first case history, all the operating companies were consolidated with a holding or management company at the top and the operating companies at the bottom.

The holding company contained all corporate, financial and marketing staff. The holding company charged each of the operating companies a management fee. For example, if total management expenses were $300,000 per year, the holding company allocated that expenditure to each of the subsidiaries as an operating expense.

We showed the bank cash flow that was being generated by the operating companies, and then we isolated the expenses of the parent. As an example, the bank saw $1 million in operating cash flow from the operating subsidiaries and $300,000 in expenditures from the holding company, creating a net cash flow of $700,000. But we convinced the bank to deduct only one-third of the holding company expense for borrowing purposes, leaving a cash flow net of $900,000 instead of $700,000, thereby raising our borrowing capability by $1,000,000 (five times cash flow). We successfully argued that many of the holding company expenses were optional developmental expenses to help the company grow (such as marketing or travel expenses). As such, these expenses could be stopped any time and should not be considered as part of the regular cash flow.

There is usually a gray area between non-capitalized development expenses and normal operating expenses; we were able to negotiate within that gray area and get the bank to agree to a more favorable cash flow picture.

You Make the Magic

The essence of good investment banking lies in first, recognizing profitable opportunities and then bringing capital to those opportunities with effective communication.

In this article we have explained three of the many ways we effectively communicate with lenders. To the extent the process involves magic, the real credit goes to the entrepreneur who starts with an idea and turns it into a profitable business enterprise.

During the past ten years, the semiconductor industry has improved its products tremendously and we can take advantage of that in refurbishing our old amplifiers. Let's begin with the power supply. The power supply's main function is to convert the 30 or 60 volts A.C. square wave into D.C., which is needed to bias the R.F. transistors in the amplifier. Older amplifiers, vintage 1965 to 1970, used quite a few Germanium transistors as the pass element. Today silicon transistors are widely used and offer the user higher reliability and higher breakdown voltages. As an example, a popular 12 channel amplifier used a 2N456A Germanium transistor in its power supply; this device has a 40 volt breakdown and is capable of 8 amps of collector load. A good replacement for that transistor would be a 2N3791 which is a silicon device with voltage breakdown of 80 volts and current carrying capabilities of 10 amps. Other components in the power supply that can be improved are the rectifier bridges or diodes and the filter capacitors. Filter capacitors age with time and can become leaky thus creating hum in a system. A good maintenance practice would be to replace all filter capacitors in your power supplies once a year.

Probably the most significant advancement in semiconductors has been in the R.F. devices. Today's R.F. transistors have much higher frequency response, higher dynamic range and much lower noise figure. We can take advantage of these new devices and improve older amplifiers significantly.

The example below shows the improvements on cross modulation, triple beat and second order when comparing a PT 4145 transistor used in a Coral 429M trunk amplifier with a B022, which is a new device in a test fixture. Figure 1 shows an improvement of 12dB in triple beat performance and Figure 2 shows an improvement of 7dB in cross modulation and 6dB in second order distortion.

Now when you take these new transistors and plug them into an amplifier, the results are even more interesting. Again using a model 429 M/Coral amplifier (Figure 3), the performance specifications of the unit are plotted here before and after the Broadband model BMK 404 MOD KIT (Figure 4) was installed. The significant points to note are as follows:

1. The current drawn by the four stages is almost identical (247 mA prior to modification and 243 mA after modification);
2. The noise figure was improved by 3.25 dB;
3. At +32 dBmV output cross mod for 12 channels was improved by 18.5 dB, at +42 dBmV output cross mod was improved by 18dB;
4. At +32 dBmV output triple beat was improved by 13.5 dB, at +42 dBmV output triple beat was improved by 13 dB;

5. At +32 dBmV output second order beats were improved by 4 dB, at +42 dBmV output second order was improved by 4 dB.

The limiting factor in the modification of this particular brand and model of amplifier would then be the noise figure improvement (3.25 dB) and the second order improvement (4 dB).

The actual degree of improvement, or whether or not you could add a midband channel to the system after the modification or add a single (or multiple) lower-super band channel to the system (for semi-secure pay cable) will of course depend upon the exact channel makeup in your system and the type of equipment which you have throughout your plant.

Although this article does not apply to all 12 channel systems, it does show that older amplifiers can still be used to deliver clear pictures with a good degree of reliability. These types of modifications do not make the amplifiers push-pull and therefore do not allow the operator to fully load the mid-band. They do, however, allow the operator to extend his existing cascade of amplifiers and to increase the performance of his system significantly.

Also, despite the failure of most major MSOs to actively acknowledge it, hard-R, adult films were sought by cable viewers more than any other type of television entertainment, except for first-run blockbuster theatrical releases.

Finally, where adult services had been offered, the tiers performed impressively, especially for STV systems anxious to fend off encroaching cable operators. And the popularity seemed to know no demographic boundaries, be they urban-rural, North-South or conservative-liberal. But subscribers consistently complained about having to pay for what they considered filler material, which was defined by the existing services as "action." According to Mr. O'Daly, "It was apparent that the violent nature of many services was a turnoff and that erotic films were the real interest of the subscribers, not Attack of the Killer Tomatoes or Fists of Fury.

A Happy Marriage of Supply and Distribution

Mr. O'Daly saw that the properly structured and programmed adult service held enormous profit potential for both operators and distributors. Intending to create such a service, BPI joined forces with Videotheque, Inc., a theatrical distribution company which specializes in feature acquisitions and is headed by Jacques Falerne. The BPI-Videotheque alliance was facilitated by an investment consortium under the banner of IFC Entertainment, Ltd. early in 1980. It, too, perceived the value of the right adult tier filling an obvious void in the pay TV market.

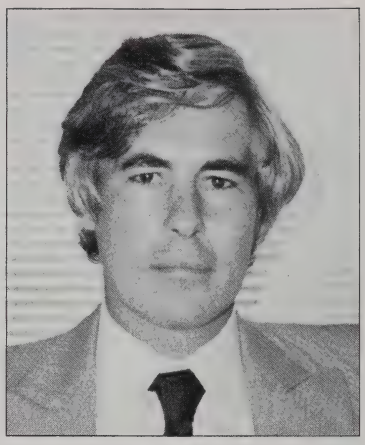
"The combination of BPI and Videotheque was ideal," according to Mr. Falerne. "It's (BPI's) marketing and sales skills complemented my access to erotic films through theatrical producers, both here and abroad, very well."

That Unique Identity

Once the framework of EROS was finalized, Messrs. O'Daly and Falerne sought to establish its identity and buy properties that conformed to that image. "We sought to concentrate our resources on only the hard-R, adult films, defined so by their eroticism, and heed the grumblings of the dissatisfied subscribers," said Mr. O'Daly.

This identity factor became increasingly significant as time went on. Operators were confused as to exactly what they were being sold because many of the same pictures were being touted by every service. In order to eradicate any duplication on EROS, Mr. Falerne negotiated to buy all possible rights, minimally cable, rather than license the titles and fall victim to the juggling game.

Of course, the building of a library on this criteria was more difficult than merely licensing titles. Referring to this endeavor, Mr. Falerne said, "A fascinating dimension of the acquisitions is that many producers are, or were, sitting on extensive collections of films they did not realize the value of. Negotiations now are unquestionably more difficult than they were 18 months ago." On the one hand, the market is noticeably short on well-produced, high-budgeted features because of Videotheque's efforts and, on the other, the tougher posture of producers is an acknowledgement of the sharply rising demand.



Brian O'Daly, President
Broadcasting Programming, Inc.

To supplement its current foundation of films, EROS has a variety of future co-production ventures on deck in addition to first-refusal options on independently financed projects.

What Messrs. O'Daly and Falerne have ended up with is a library of 900-plus features culled directly from the theatrical circuit, devoit of wanton violence, strong on story lines, style and taste, entertaining by virtue of their plots, international in composition and spiced with a provocative dose of hard-R sex. What's more, they're movies you won't see anywhere else.

Vital Logistics

As the EROS service stands now, 12 premiere features are offered each month. They are available on 3/4" videocassettes (1/2" is possible but discouraged because of quality considerations) and can be run as often as the operator sees fit within the program month. Mr. O'Daly notes, however, that there is a point of diminishing returns after which the subscriber will feel cheated if faced with an excessively high repeat factor. He added that frequent and fresh material is vital in this genre. "Our suggested scheduling is a double feature Monday through Saturday to keep the repeat factor per film below four, and the viewer's appetite high," he said.

Once Westar III satellite delivery is inaugurated on December 15, 1981, the operator will have the same flexibility, assuming he can tape the feed for later use. For those without the facilities to receive signals from Westar III, stand-alone operations will continue to be accommodated. The same applies to STV and MDS systems.

The feeling at EROS is that no matter how distinctive the product, the logistical simplicity of satellite delivery is necessary to cater to the many systems not equipped for stand-alone play.

The actual satellite window will begin at 12:00 a.m. (ET) and end at 5:00 a.m. (ET). An hour at 11:00 p.m. is still being sought but has not yet been confirmed. This feed will be beamed Monday through Saturday and will serve all time zones during the hours most appropriate for EROS viewing.

Similar to the suggested schedule, EROS will be provided in an A-B-A feature sequence. This may be embellished with an original half-hour series on some week nights, but only on an experimental basis initially. The EROS management firmly believes that the universally appealing movie is the meat and potatoes of its service and questions the additional attraction a series would offer.

Advertising Dollars

As an adjunct to the contention that EROS must be delivered by satellite before its superior programming will be presented to a large subscriber base, its pricing must be competitive to further accentuate the advantages of the tier to the operators. "An overwhelming number of operators read from the bottom up," says Mr. O'Daly, "and if we're not on at least an equal-rate footing with those services that have been around a bit longer, we're out of the running." Therefore, the EROS rate card ranges between $1.90 and $2.40, depending on volume and performance discounts. The premise is that these low figures will be passed on to subscribers and EROS will make up for its lower rates by greater numbers of subscribers. In conjunction with having no ceiling after which EROS would command a percentage, these rates create a tantalizingly high profit margin.

It is the job of BPI's sales team, coordinated by John Detwiler, to drive home these values to operators who, in many instances, are unfamiliar with the highly receptive and lucrative market at their fingertips.

Marketing and promotion are an integral part of EROS because the time-strapped operator cannot be relied upon to push the service. Elaborating on this point, Mr. O'Daly stated, "Unlike the broadcast business, cable programming is a double sell, first to system, then to subscriber. Being aware of this, we have assembled an array of advertising tools including newspaper and TV Guide admats, direct mail solicitations, radio spots and eventually, ad-supported cable network commercials.

As the First Amendment and financial cases for adult programming on pay cable television gain momentum, there will surely be a place for increasingly competitive R-rated services. The current stature of EROS and its carefully plotted course for the future make those services a prime contender for a healthy, if not major, share of the expanding cable universe.

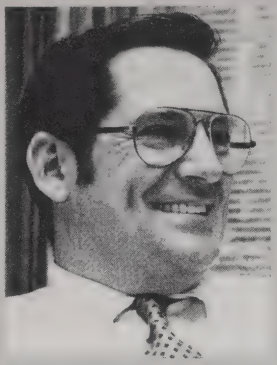
Behind the Scenes . . .

Dick Cox..... President

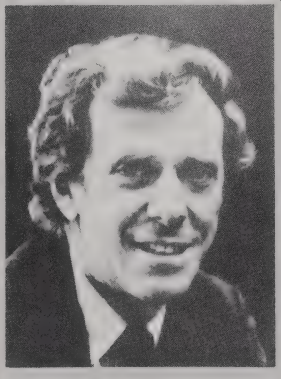


Mr. Cox comes to CBS Cable from D.C.A.-TV a company which he formed in 1979, specializing in production of and consultation on radio and television programs. His career began in the 50's with Young & Rubicam as vice president of Radio-Television Programming. In 1966, he moved to Doyle, Dane and Bernbach as Vice President in charge of Radio-Television. He has brought such diverse events to network television as the Tony Awards, NHL Hockey and ABC's late evening programming. In 1970 he received an Obie for the Off-Broadway production of Orlando Furioso. He returned to Young & Rubicam as President of Y & R Ventures, the agency's television distribution organization, and D.C.A. Productions, its radio and TV production subsidiary.

Charlotte Schiff-Jones..... Vice President, Marketing

Ms. Jones comes to CBS Cable from Time, Inc., where she was executive vice president and director, Manhattan Cable, and subsequently assistant publisher, People magazine. Before joining Time Inc., she was director, community programming, for Teleprompter, Inc. While at Time, Inc., MS. Jones produced the People television series shown on CBS in 1978 and was also executive producer of the Emmy award-winning New York Live for Manhattan Cable. In 1976, Ms. Jones was cited by Business Week as one of the "Top 100 Corporate Women in America." She is active in civic affairs and was appointed by Governor Carey to represent business and industry on the New York State Employment Resources Council. She is a graduate of Columbia university, where she earned an M.A. in business.

Jack Willis..... Vice President, Programming



Seven-time Emmy Award winner, Jack Willis is the dynamic force behind the CBS Cable creative team. His distinguished career has brought to the television screen such unforgettable series as The Great American Dream Machine for which he won two Emmy awards, and The 51st State for which he won four Emmy awards. He has directed, produced, and written innumerable films dealing with such vital subjects as civil rights, the problems of American farmers and the contributions made by women to the arts and sciences. He also produced for CBS The Case Against Milligan and wrote with his wife, Mary Willis, A Question of Guilt, Some Kind of Miracle, and Seizure, starring Leonard Nimoy. Mr. Willis attended UCLA where he earned a B.A. in 1955 and an L.L.B. in 1960.

Robert L. Turner, Vice President and General Manager

Robert L. Turner joined CBS Cable as Vice President and General Manager on August 25. For the past 15 years he has been associated with the Bristol-Myers Company in New York as director of advertising services, where he was responsible for the planning, development, and execution of Bristol-Myers' advertising strategies in the United States and Canada. Mr. Turner will play a major role in the development of the CBS Cable Divsion.

Singin', a series of three half-hour programs starring Nancy Dussault and Karen Morrow focusing on Broadway; pop hits, standards and gospel classics; and love songs.

The Quiz Kids with Norman Lear as Quiz Master in a new version of radio and television's perennial favorite.

Some of the programs may be among those scheduled by CBS Cable on its launch—others may be seen later. It is, actually, a sample menu of the kinds of diverse programming that CBS has put together for its cultural service.

Program Origination

In a recent interview, Dick Cox, President, CBS Cable Division said, "We're saying that approximately 60 percent of our programming will be produced and originated by CBS Cable, while the other 40 percent will be acquired, essentially from sources overseas. The figures of 60 and 40 are used just to indicate that a majority of CBS Cable's programming will be original, which is one of the major differences between CBS and other similar cable program services."

The programming effort at CBS Cable is headed by Jack Willis, Vice President, Programming, seven-time Emmy winner and producer of such notable programs as The American Dream Machine.

Surrounding Mr. Willis are programming talents of unusual ability: Merrill Brockway, Executive Producer, Arts Programming; Roger Englander, Senior Producer, Music; John Musilli, Senior Producer, Drama; Stephanie Sills, Senior Producer, West Coast; Don Fouser, Executive Producer, Special Projects; Greg Jackson, Senior Producer, Informational Programming; and Regina Dantas, Managing Director, International.

"These creative production talents have put together a stimulating and entertaining assortment of programs in fresh formats with a contemporary approach popularizing the performing arts," Mr. Cox said. "The word culture, we believe, will take on a new meaning when applied to CBS Cable's programming. The word won't be associated with 'dull,' which so often has been the case."

The Measure of Success

Were will CBS Cable be seen? Charlotte Schiff Jones, Vice President, Marketing, CBS Cable, said that there are significant commitments from cable companies of all sizes including many MSO's: ATC, Storer, Times-Mirror, UA-Columbia Cablevision, Inc., as well as from Gill Cable, Inc., Buckeye Cablevision, Multimedia Cablevision, Rollins Cablevision, Heritage Communications, Telecable, Vision Cable

"We believe our long-term, ongoing effort will be a significant contribution in developing new audiences for basic cable television in the tradition of the highest standards that CBS has noted for over many years."

Communications, Palmer Cablevision, Blackhawk Cable, Teltron, RVS Cablevision, American Cable TV of Phoenix, Housatonic Cablevision, Village Satellite Cable TV Service, Lakes Cablevision, Americable, and Honesdale TV Service, and others. "We have exceeded our original goal of two million by launch date and anticipate further significant additions by October 12," Ms. Jones asserted. "The enthusiasm and support of 10 out of the top 25 cable companies and leading pioneers indicate the measure of our success."

The advertiser-supported channel will be offered at no fee to cable systems who offer it as a basic service.

Promotional Support

Robert J. Mariano, Director, Affiliate Sales and Relations, said of CBS Cable's outstanding promotional support package, "It is a reflection of many months of research which determined that there is a growing trend toward cable systems recapturing their own identities. CBS Cable's local affiliate promotional program is specifically designed to support that effort while simultaneously raising awareness of the value of CBS Cable's programming."

CBS Cable will offer each affiliate system the following promotional package, when carried as a basic service:

a. Affiliates of the new network will be eligible for up to $.15 per subscriber per year in cooperative promotional reimbursement funds;

b. CBS Cable will make available to its affiliates up to an additional $.10 per subscriber in launch promotional support;

c. This past summer, CBS Cable initiated a major national media campaign, as well as a local advertising and promotion plan targeted directly to subscribers and potential subscribers in all of its affiliate communities;

d. CBS Cable will assist cable systems in expanding their subscriber base by working with arts organizations and other local institutions that have access to and influence on the potential audience for each cable system's service.

CBS Cable will make an average of 12 minutes a day of local advertising available to its affiliates and will assist cable systems in selling local commercial minutes.

Broadband Stereo Signal

CBS Cable's signal will be transmitted to operators in full broadband stereo signal on 5.8 MHz subcarrier, with Dolby noise-reductions and a separate monaural feed on conventional subcarrier will be available as standard service.

Use of Leaming Industries' converter at the cable headend and splitter on the subscriber's end will make the stereo signal available through home stereo FM receivers, according to Sid Kaufman, Vice President, Operations, CBS Cable, who attributed much of the credit for the development of the method to Don McGraw, Director of Engineering.

In Conclusion

"CBS Cable is dedicated to bringing the American public an outstanding service," Mr. Cox concluded. "It is a full-scale major service, and CBS Cable's commitment has been carefully planned to satisfy the most demanding tastes. We believe our long-term, ongoing effort will be a significant contribution in developing new audiences for basic cable television—in the tradition of the highest standards that CBS has been noted for over many years."

USA Network Sold. Time, Inc. has agreed to purchase 50 percent of the advertising-supported USA Network from UA-Columbia Cablevision for $15 million. USA expects Paramount to purchase the other 50 percent from Madison Square Garden Productions, Inc., but the agreement stipulates that if Paramount decides not to purchase its half of the network, Time will buy out Madison Square Garden's to own all of USA. USA Network's basic programming schedule will be unchanged and the management will remain intact.

Bonneville Satellite Leases Four Transponders On Spacenet Satellite System. Bonneville Satellite Corp. (BSC) announced that it has reached agreement, in principle, with Southern Pacific Communications Company to lease four transponders on the Spacenet Satellite System. Three transponders are on Spacenet I, scheduled for launch in early 1984, and one transponder is on Spacenet II, scheduled for an October 1984 launch. BSC will utilize most of the Spacenet I transponder capacity for cable programming. The Spacenet II transponder will be sub-leased by the company for broadcast, video, audio and data services.

NCTA Urges Copyright Office To Permit Cable Systems To Prorate Royalty Fees. The National Cable Television Association has filed a supplemental statement with the U.S. Copyright Office (CO) urging it to initiate a rulemaking to permit cable systems to prorate royalty fees and emphasizing that the CO has no authority to reject cable systems' Statements of Account. NCTA pointed out that, under existing regulations, a cable system carrying a distant signal for only one month, or even one day, in a given accounting period is required to pay for all the non-network programming shown by that station during the whole six months.

Private Screenings Signs STAR, Commits to Seven-Day Schedule. Satori Productions, Inc. and Satellite Television & Associated Resources, Inc. (STAR) have announced an affiliation agreement for carriage of Satori's Private Screenings, the adult pay TV network. Under the terms of the agreement, STAR will incorporate Private Screenings as part of the monthly subscription package in all of its over-the-air pay TV operations. Private Screenings will also be presented in a new, expanded seven-day-a-week basis as well as a weekend-only service. RCA Americom Files For Fifth Operational Satellite. Citing existing business, commitments, new orders and conservative growth forecasts, RCA American Communications, Inc., has requested authority from the FCC to launch a fifth operational Satcom communications satellite and place it at 66 degrees west longitude. RCA Americom already has authority from the FCC to build the satellite, but authority to launch and operate the spacecraft was deferred by the FCC pending a demonstration of customer need. According to RCA Americom, demand for increased satellite communications facilities in all of its marketing areas clearly warrants the FCC to authorize the launch and operation of the new Satcom. At the present time, service utilize approximately 55 transponders, 43 or which are on Satcom I and II and 12 of which are leased from other carriers. Existing commitments and conservative growth projections for other business will substantially fill another 10 transponders, making a total facilities requirement of 120 transponders of five Satcom spacecraft. Noting that NASA has an available Delta launch slot in August 1983, and that construction of the new Satcom is under way, RCA Americom has requested authority to launch the new spacecraft at that time.

General Motors Corporation Has Signed As The First Underwriter of ARTS. General Motors Corporation has signed with ABC Video Enterprises to become the first corporate underwriter of the Alpha Repertory Television Service (ARTS). Under the terms of the agreement, General Motors will underwrite ARTS for one year, beginning October 5, 1981, and continuing through the third quarter of 1982. G.M. will present messages which will rotate throughout the ARTS format, but will not interrupt a given program or performance. General Motors also will receive billboards as a participating sponsor each evening.

'The Gourmet' Debuts With New Set. The Gourmet, hosted by David Wade, is in its second year on SPN with a brand new $60,000 kitchen set under construction for the program. Wade, who is also the show's producer, says the kitchen should first be seen by SPN viewers in early November. It is being built specifically to accommodate TV lights and cameras, and features the latest in culinary innovations. Wade says the kitchen will utilize a computer which has unlimited possibilities for use, including inventory control, storage of menus and recipes, and extending recipes. Wade's new set will also include an induction cook-top, which uses a magnetic principle in cooking through tempered glass. The SPN program host says he's especially proud of the cabinets which were made in Germany. leaders from major MSO's and pay programmers. It revealed that traditional systems adding a second pay service during 1980 experienced, on the average, a 37 percent increase in total pay/basic penetration, but a 13 percent erosion in the pay/basic penetration for the incumbent service. However, when the same Kagan 1980 data for HBO markets which added Showtime in 1980 is analyzed, the results indicate a dramatic improvement over the industry average. Pay unit/basic penetration improvement in these Showtime/HBO markets was 14 percent better than the industry average. Moreover, the incumbent HBO penetration increased by 10 percent versus the industry erosion of 13 percent, indicating the complementary nature of the Showtime service when introduced onto HBO incumbent single-pay systems. Mr. Sie noted that Showtime has continued to perform impressively in these HBO incumbent markets during 1981. The total pay units grew an additional 35 percent in the first half of 1981, and the HBO units grew an additional 32 percent through June, 1981.

There's a growing number of cable receivers who aren't getting the picture. At least not all of it.

With a S/N ratio of 50 dB or less, backgrounds, especially in dark scenes, have a lot of noise.

Cure that, with the Agile 24 from Standard Communications. It automatically reduces noise by 2 dB or more on dark scenes while holding the static threshold under 5.5 dB.

Nobody else makes a 24 channel receiver with specs like that.

Nobody.

When terrestrial microwave interference is the villain, the Agile 24 from Standard Communications can be the hero. It has a switchable trap option that will knock down the worst interference.*

ESCAPADE Announces PLAYBOY!

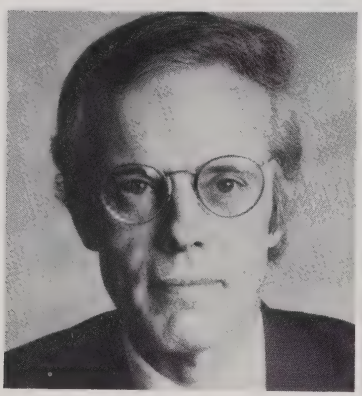
Ann Shanks
Filmmaker, writer and photographer.



Bob Shanks
Writer, producer and director.

Most entrepreneurial businesses entail high risks and low survival rates, but Playboy Enterprises Inc., has defied statistics to become a $350,000,000 multi-national corporation. The circumstances and the story of Playboy's success are legendary.

Hugh M. Hefner began publishing Playboy magazine in December, 1953, with a personal investment of $600 and $10,000 in loans from family and friends. He created a formula of fantasy, fiction and fact that attracted more than 51,000 readers—a near sellout at fifty cents a copy.

Playboy Productions, with a record for quality programming in the commercial television area (Death of Ocean View Park was named one of 1979's top ten made-for-television movies by critic Judith Crist, and A Whale for the Killing has been nominated for two Emmy Awards for the 1980 season), is now entering into the growing pay cable field.

Programming Development

Rainbow Programming Services and Playboy Productions have announced the signing of veteran television producer/director/writer Bob Shanks and filmmaker Ann Shanks to serve as a production team responsible for the development of programming for The Playboy Channel, currently seen as the Escapade adult entertainment cable service.

The Shankses will serve as producers and provide creative direction on series and special programming to be showcased on The Playboy Channel.

"Our objective for the Playboy Channel is to provide creative, sophisticated, adult-oriented entertainment—programming that matches the quality of Playboy magazine," said W. Russell Barry, president, Playboy Productions, Inc. "We believe that, with their individual and collective talents and experience, Bob and Ann Shanks will be instrumental in helping us achieve that goal."

During his extensive career, Bob Shanks has written, produced and directed programs for ABC, NBC, CBS, PBS, and Group W. His credits include The Tonight Show, Candid Camera, The Merv Griffen Show, California Jam, Omnibus and the Emmy award-winning PBS series, Great American Dream Machine, as well as a score of specials and documentaries.

He served as a programming vice president for ABC Television from 1972 to 1978, during which time he created Wide World of Entertainment, Good Morning, America and 20/20.

Anne Zane Shanks is an accomplished filmmaker, writer and photographer. Among her production credits are the CBS Movie-of-the-Week, Drop-out Father, now in pre-productions; American Life Style, a syndicated half-hour series originally hosted by E.G. Marshall and now hosted by Hugh Downs; and Women on the Move, a daily program on WNBC-TV in New York. She also directed the NBC Movie-of-the-Week, The Walls Came Tumbling Down.

The Shankses formed the company, Comco Productions, Inc., and Calicom Cable in 1978. At Calicom, they created, produced, directed and wrote numerous series and documentaries for ABC Video Enterprises and CBS Cable. They also developed the Warner-Amex Satellite Project, a 24-hour cable channel.

Projects for the Playboy Channel will involve the adaptation of Playboy magazine to video. Programming will cover such subjects as fashion, music, humor, newsmaking interviews, feature stories, Playmate centerfolds and other material in keeping with the Playboy philosophy and lifestyle.

Playboy programming will be seen initially on Rainbow Programming Services' Escapade, beginning in early 1982. The Escapade name will be replaced by The Playboy Channel designation when sufficient programming exists of the type and quality that represents the Playboy image. Escapade currently has 120,000 subscribers in 50 systems nationwide, and is about to launch in 115 systems.
